Postal Bank Is Assured

BY C. S. ALBERT.
(Special Bulletin Correspondence.)
WASHINGTON, D. C., Feb. 8.—A postal savings bank will soon be established at some point in the Hawaiian Islands. It is officially promised that the date shall not be later than June 1.

The city or town where the first postal savings bank in Hawaii shall be opened has not been determined. It may be Honolulu, or some smaller place. This will depend on the logrolling done by various localities and the influence exerted in their behalf.

The only reason for choosing a town of limited population for opening the new bank is that the system has not yet been fully developed. It is in a more or less experimental stage. The situation can be examined and studied more effectively where the volume of business is not sufficient to cause complications.

Theodore M. Weed, recently appointed director of the postal savings banks system, is preparing to greatly extend the operation of the new plan. He is daily establishing new banks in this country. In less than three months he feels certain it will be possible to take their institution in Hawaii. He has given assurances that at least one will be opened on the Island of Oahu not later than June 1.

It is generally believed by officials here that the establishment of postal savings banks in connection with the postoffice of the Hawaiian Islands will prove of vast benefit to the people and demonstrate their value to the poorer classes of people. It is estimated that the laboring element in Hawaii will be encouraged to deposit small sums, and the net result will be a larger percentage of those in comparatively comfortable circumstances.
The aggregated savings will also be available for commercial enterprises and will contribute much to the more rapid development of the country.

Up to this time the establishment of the postal savings banks system in the United States has proven an incentive to thrift and economy. The most sanguine expectations of those who long advocated the plan have been more than realized.

Speaker Clark of the House of Representatives is now a member of the Loyal Order of Moose. With twenty-three other candidates he was initiated into the order by Columbia Lodge No.
126. Emmet L. Adams, director of Columbia Lodge, presided at the ceremonies, and the initiatory exercises were in charge of Supreme Organizers I. O.
Cunningham and J. M. Touey.

Speaker Clark after his initiation made a brief address to the members, congratulating them on the merits of the order and its increase in membership and influence in recent years, the membership now exceeding 500,000.
Representative Curtis H. Gregg of Pennsylvania, a past supreme dictator of the order, also made an address, dealing mainly with the influence of the Moose abroad.

It was reported that a lodge of 800 members has recently been formed in Honolulu, Hawaiian Islands, under the auspices of Columbia Lodge No. 126.

The collier Leonidas has arrived at Annapolis loaded with a great assortment of relics of the wrecked battleship Maine, which are to be distributed among municipalities, societies and relatives of survivors of the Maine.
About fifty tons of coal which the Leonidas loaded from the wrecked battleship is being discharged at Annapolis, where it will be tested at the engineering laboratory to determine the effect upon the coal of thirteen years' submersion in salt water. The Leonidas will bring to the navy yard here the mainmast of the battleship, which is to be placed in the national cemetery at Arlington over the graves of the victims of the catastrophe.
